

It is important to maintain a free press and radio and TV in America. The air waves belong to all of us and it is wrong for a broadcast corporation to be able to use the airwaves for outright propaganda. They can broadcast an editorial, but must give equal time to the other side.

This is wrong in the worst way, another attack on our Constitutional rights.

If the FCC can get all worked up over a breast being exposed at the Super Bowl, which was an affront to many moralists but did no lasting damage to anyone, how much more seriously must you take this attack on the very basis of our government, our Bill of Rights.

Sinclair must be stopped from turning the public airwaves into its private political machine.
